

[QUOTES OF THE WEEK]

"I wake up every single night wondering what I could have done differently. This is a pain that will stay with me for the rest of my life."

MR RICHARD FULD, the disgraced head of Lehman Brothers, at a hearing of the US House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform last Monday

"I don't say, 'I went to the market.' I had to say, 'I yesterday go to the market already.'"

MRS FOREST LEONG, the Thai wife of top chef Sam Leong, on picking up Singlish when she came here

"I wonder how he sleeps at night."

MR ELIJAH CUMMINGS, a member of the US House of Representatives, on Mr Fuld

"We've cleaned up the Singapore River and we've cleaned up our streets. Why not our toilets?"

MR JACK SIM, founder of the World Toilet Organisation, on how government bodies can work together to ensure that good toilet etiquette is practised

"Something is wrong here. These people arrive, buy the clubs, but they can leave at any moment. That creates a risk of instability for these teams and the competition as a whole."

MR SEPP BLATTER, Fifa president, on the wave of foreigners buying over English Premier League clubs

