

READY, AIM....: Toilets in central Reykjavik, Iceland, have a unique way of letting users release pent-up frustration, with photographs of former bankers who left their country after the financial crash stuck on urinals.

