

MY VIEWS IN

HARD TO LOCATE HANDICAP TOILET

 ON TUESDAY, a tourist in a wheelchair was looking for a handicap toilet at the HarbourFront cruise centre but he and his companion had difficulty locating it.

Ample signages should be provided to point visitors to the nearest washroom for the disabled.

Planners for public buildings need to factor in the needs of those who are wheelchair-bound. Perhaps we could incorporate this issue in the relevant courses at the local universities.

Mr David Soh Poh Huat