

FLUSHING OUT BAD HABITS

About 100 preschoolers gave Health Minister Khaw Boon Wan a lusty rendition of a rap – about toilet etiquette – yesterday.

The tiny tots, from the PAP Community Foundation (PCF) Sembawang, are the first lot of kindergarten kids to complete the six-day "Happy Toilet" education programme for preschools, which aims to promote good toilet habits and public health awareness.

The programme, by the North West Community Development Council and the Restroom Association of Singapore, will go out to 55 PCF centres in the North West District.
