

Temple of a million bottles

A monk (left) at Thailand's Wat Pa Maha Chedi Kaew temple points to its walls built from more than a million glass bottles (above). The Buddhist temple in Sisaket province has found an environmentally friendly way to utilise discarded bottles - using them to build everything in its premises, from shelters to toilets. PHOTOS: REUTERS